Von Ribbentrop Believed Trying To Persuade Petain-Laval Government To Issue War Declaration

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Nazi sources disclosed tonight that Hitler met Vice-Premier Pierre Laval somewhere in France today. Ribbentrop, the Nazi foreign minister, was present.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—(AP)—A possibility that the Petain-Laval government at Vichy might be persuaded to declare war on the side of the axis powers was foreseen here today amid indications that Foreign Minister Ribbentrop either is on his way, or is about to embark upon a journey to the southwest, presumably to Vichy. Secrecy surrounded Von Ribbentrop's movements.

(Dispatches from Les Verrières, Switzerland, on the French border, quoted travelers as saying the axis powers are attempting to persuade the Vichy regime to declare war on Britain by offering it comparatively easy peace terms. Vice-Premier Pierre Laval is reported to be in Paris discussing the situation with Nazi officials.)

Today's War Moves

BRITISH occupation of Greek Islands in the Aegean Sea, which was suggested in London today as a possibility, would far toward isolating any Axis offensive through the Mediterranean toward

Suez. Though there is no question of the great advantage Britain could obtain by this move, it is important to consider the problem of whether the British would strike first or should not take the initiative, despite Greek protests.

If the Greek archipelago were in British hands, the islands could be used as temporary air and naval bases for devastating assaults on any German effort to cross the Dardanelles. The British could then use the same tactics and could be given to the Greeks in relating an Italian march into Greek territory.

Several of the Greek islands are within 40 miles of the Dardanelles and within 200 miles of the British main base at Suez. The Germans would want to utilize for any advance toward Syria, Palestine and Mesopotamia the British base on the east coast of England.

At the same time, the British could use the Greek islands as a great base for raids on the German flank and rear would be subject to British bombings that might well be of decisive assistance to the Turks in repelling a Nazi invasion.

CRETE LARGEST ISLAND

The largest of the Greek islands, Crete, is within 100 miles of the great British naval base of Alexandria. If it were to fall to German hands, the Nazi aviation force might

HOG DELIVERY MAKES RECORD FOR ALL-TIME

Present Bombing "Avanche" Seen As Mop-up Operation

By KIRK L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(CP)— Germany's Air Force, which has been London that British strategists are willing ever offensive projects in distant war theatre. It is still on the cross channel "invasion plan" which has been the country's biggest all-time records.

London says all British blows are falling on an "avalanche" against French and British harbors in the second year of the war. The barrage of the battle of Britain fell at one-second rate.

With each of the 100 British bombers that have been hitting British ports, 100 British counter-attacks across the narrow waterways. They pass along the now familiar "Dowdles" of British harbors. The price is paid by the British, during the countless hours of German air attack.

"MOPPING-UP"

It seems probable the bombing
when the "avalanche" mop-up operation primarily designed to only to avert any surprise invasion at any time, will be to prevent use of the port of Germany.

Once British objective is considered, however, it will become the prime target of British
air, or possibly northern Italy.

The massive bombing is
obviously a prelude to wider expansion of Britain's counter attack.

Yet that does not seem to be what either A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, or the British British colonial secretary, had in mind in telling British audiences of the offensive.

Both appeared to have reference to the Balkans-Mediterranean

"We are daily conveying our ships our troops and our supplies to the front in war which the war is being driven," said Mr.
Alexander.

Speaking specifically of the Mediterranean, he said: "We are driving eastward via the Balkans and of the slow-motion Italian thrust in Africa."

"The day we can take the offensive approaches steadily."

MAKING MORE

There are of course British war councils. They may know much more than yet has been revealed of the secret of British Greek and Russian decisions to move their public morale.

The statements have not been made when coupled with Major Anthony Eden's trip to the near eastern front, a flight of British airmen to the Balkans and of the slow-motion Italian thrust in Africa."

"The day we can take the offensive approaches steadily."

ALBERTA TOWN

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
DRUMHELLER, Oct. 22.—(CP)—
Theives who broke into the Rumsey telephone office during the early hours of Monday morning embezzled
the sum of $1,000.

The robbery was discovered Monday when the telephone operator had opened the office. The theives had gained entrance to the building by means of a hole in the window.

"They have been many times robbed in the past, but this time may well be the last, the top of British full-dress efforts, in an effort, an affirmative, not a negative, victory."

OTTAWA URGED
TO DISPOSE OF
ALBERTA BONDS

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—(CP)—
Alderman H. F. Hill Monday told city council it was a mistake not to let Ottawa's holdings of $100 000 worth of Province of Alberta bonds.

Alderman Hill said the city could have sold the bonds for $100,000 000 interest which was 10 per cent bonds were supposed to pay during the war.

Heeding the advice of Alderman Hill, the city was holding the bonds in case a war would preclude the possibility of getting them out ultimately in the event of a declaration of war.

He contended that if a settlement was reached in the dispute over interest payments, the bonds would have to sign a declaration stipulating interest in full release of the province's obligations.

Major H. F. Lewis said he would look into the matter.

TWO PERSONS DIE

CITY OF MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 22.—(CP)—Sir
Joseph Alphonse Gaither, Administrator of the Montreal
fire department, lost his life and a woman was severely burned in a house fire which burned three residents
here Monday night.

Gaither died shortly after the fire was discovered, but it was not known immediately if he had been overcome by smoke or by exertion.

Ottawa Expects New Bacon Agreement With Britain This Week

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—(CP)—
Walter A. Armstrong, Minister of Agriculture, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and G. T. Tamm, chairman of the Canadian Bacon Board, are in London negotiating a new bacon agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom.
The movement of live hogs to the United Kingdom is the country's biggest all-time records.

Advices from London to the agriculture department indicate good agreement is being made, and an agreement may be reached this week both as to the amount of bacon to be sent to Britain and the price.

The existing agreement which expires Oct. 31 calls for the weekly delivery of 50,000,000 pounds of Williams bacon and ham. The price is 18.01 cents a pound, with the minimum price of 17.50 cents a pound.

It is probable the bombing of British ports will not affect the bacon export trade.

One British objective is considered, however, it will become
the prime target of British
air, or possibly northern Italy.

The massive bombing is
obviously a prelude to wider ex-

PROVINCIAL BRIEFS

LA COMBE

Lacombe District Is Free of Goitre During Past Year

The Lacombe district was particularly free from goitre among school children in the past year, according to figures shown in a recent health survey conducted by the Red Deer health unit. This has been attributed to the fact that water here contains an average of 100 milligrams of iodine per million feet, while in certain sections in central Alberta as low as 10 milligrams per million feet exist in the same amount of water.

Of 333 children examined at the Lacombe school, only 10 were found to be suffering from glandular enlargement (simple goitre).

I have been elected president of our Women's Club and find that our work has always been done by practically the same people.

What I want to do is to find ways and means to get all the members interested in sharing responsibility. Have you any suggestions?

MRS. F. O. R. ANSWER—Every organization faces this same problem. When the same small group do all the work, interest languishes. Start out by putting at least one or two other people on the executive committee. Give each committee something definite to do and make it repeatable. If some objective is accomplished, if some member now only actively engaged in the work, then it is time to offer a resolution or makes a good suggestion from the floor, adopt it and put the power in charge of carrying it out.

As far as your club is concerned, it is natural for the same people to generalize to everybody that the organization exists for its members and not the public. As far as your club comes generally recognized you won't have to worry about interest. And, if you have a good record, credit particularly to new committee members, for help and ideas.

Notre Dame May Hit Football's Big Jackpot

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Notre Dame's football fortunes appear to be headed this fall for the game's big "pig"—an undefeated and untied season.

Few who watched the Irish against Carnegie Tech on Saturday were even surprised. No team will stop the Elmer Layden-coached campaign and that the 1940 Irish may be the best place to see one of the great comedies in the University's gridiron history.

But Coach Layden indicated after the Carnegie rout that he would have to be more careful.

"It worries me a little that my first stringers, particularly my first Notre Dame players, are getting tired. Steve Jurewitz, Bob St. Gaud and Mike Lepul, aren't getting quite enough room to work to stay in top shape," he said.

Against Carnegie Tech, which the Alums won back 26-20, the first stringers were given a rest. Steve Jurewitz, Bob St. Gaud and Mike Lepul, aren't getting quite enough room to work to stay in top shape," he said.

CORNELL HOLDS TOP GRID SPOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Cornell's football team, still riding high as the United States' No. 1 college eleven in the eyes of the experts, was challenged by a new one on Monday when newsmen associated Press ranking poll of the season.

Cornell A. and B. team, a year ago and runner-up last week, gave way to Notre Dame on the Irish, who were 26-20, the first time a new one on Monday was needed.

Notre Dame, which had a ninth game in the books, was to win a unanimous 16-10 decision over the 10th-ranked weight champion from Brooklyn in a non-title scrap at the Stevens Field, website of the season. For the second season of the knockout,

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix—You are always writing about being "good." We want to give you some views on the matter, which is one of the problems of the present generation. In the days of yore, when a boy just desired to have a girl for a show or a dance, a boy just doesn't understand what is wrong with his desire. He just sits and waits and stage a pretty party. We have been raised with the idea of being good, but the idea of being good is out, and girls who cling to this idea haven't a chance. Now is a girl who is of this type she is completely ignored and her parents are feeling so sorry for her that when she goes to a boy she gets a date. She will do most anything to keep on having them. No doubt every boy is a good boy, but without having to remember her date, but not many can in these days.

FUN-LOVERS

Answer—Possibly. I am old-fashioned, but I long have been told that a girl is not to be good, and that it is to be good, and that they hold themselves too cheap when they are good. I am not a trial to the movies or an annoyance, but Maybe the fun-lovers will never believe me when I tell them that sooner or later they will have to pay for their fun, and that in most cases the very first time they lay down the primrose path will step off it to find some good girl when they are good. They are good, but then poor, forlorn creatures, with bedraggled skirts, with their youth and beauty gone, and they are no longer able to attract men.

They won't believe my warning, but perhaps they will stop and think a minute when they read the following, just when there are only a few of the many that come to me by every mail from men:

"Dear Miss Dix—She has a past, I have a past. Before our association she was the mother in the nice home in which we worked our first accusations. Since our association I have suspended her and other girls from our work, and she promises me under oath with a Bible in her hand that she will go straight and that she can be trusted. SERIOUS?"

Dear Miss Dix—How can I get rid of a girl whom I have been seeing for a week. She thinks that I should marry her, but I don't want a wife who has had enough backbone and principle not to let me persuade her into doing what she wants. She is a good girl, but a fellow marries, he will not be able to say "my wife, not our wife." What sins these poor little cheap girls are, anyway."

So there you are, girls. You know what men think of you and that you are probably going to see more dates if you have joss moral. You don't have nearly as good a chance of getting a worthwhile husband.

Of course, you will say that the petters do marry, but they marry men of their own kind, and as far as I know, they are good and have no guide but their parents, when the next pretty girl is good.

The Red Cross asks your help

FOR MONTHS the Canadian Red Cross Society has been storing up supplies of all kinds in warehouses in England in preparation for the long heralded German attack on the British Isles. The Battle of Britain is on. Canadian Red Cross Supplies are in England ready for the emergency. Within two hours of the call for relief of the victims of bombing raids, the Canadian Red Cross was distributing food, clothing and blankets in the temporary shelters where the homeless people were gathering.

In the Red Cross Maple Leaf Club thousands of sufferers have been served with hot tea and food. One Club has been put out of action by a bomb, but the other is still carrying on.

150 Red Cross ambulances, given by the people of Canada through the Red Cross, are now available in England for use in any emergency.

The people of Canada have already sent to England the Red Cross supplies of cases of clothing especially needed for civilian relief. They are now working on 5000 garments for women and children. It is estimated that these supplies alone will cost half a million dollars and the finished garments will be three times as much.

With the past week, $57,000 was appropriated to purchase 50,000 additional treatments; 10,000 pairs of Wellington boots for boys; and $10,000 for boots and shoes for women and children.

Food to the value of $40,677.50 has been purchased in Canada and shipped to London which, together with voluntary contributions of fruit, reaches a total of $61,547.50. These supplies are now available in England.

All this is in addition to the comforts and requirements of our own men both in camp and in hospitals.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Such a to-do has been made over the provision of vitamins and minerals for soldiers in other parts of the globe that Uncle Sam's silence on the subject had me a bit uneasy—but no more, as I have since learned. Every once in a while I take off thirty pounds or so. There's nothing to it, a man's body is to drop down to 140 lbs. when he goes into the hitch comes when he goes on a maintenance diet—that's when the body begins to break down.

About those vitamins and minerals he says: "We don't worry about those things—but our meals are full of them. We go by the rule of thumb, and the rule of thumb appears to be the military chow—baked beans and meat. That's what feeds contain iron and calcium—and by the way, the beans are good for the heart. Sergeant, I've just had a meal of milk, soft-boiled eggs, fried potatoes, meat, butter, coffee for dessert, stir-fried beans, head lettuce, potato salad, rice bread, butter, chocolate cake, eggs, and for supper—meat loaf with gravy, Lyonaise potatoes, pickle beans, dinner rolls with gravy."

As it happens, that wasn't on the spinach days. But if you want to know what the Sergeant don't cook, don't stuff, don't serve, it with butter, plenty of salt, a quartered egg, and have him eat—second helpings are a matter of course. And the way they eat the Army chow is baffled by the way they eat. They have hollow legs," he declared. "They eat like a bunch of old women. They eat like a bunch of old women."

The Sergeant can't understand why they eat like a bunch of old women.

Any menu, you say, can look good in print, but the aroma wafted from the kitchen of the Army messes with me wish I could be invited to supper. And almost an hour before the meal was served, the smell of roast beef, fresh vegetables, and meat and vegetable stew, which are higher in vitamins. Instead of these, the Army chow is a bummer.

The Army chow not only knows about the scientific discoveries in dietetics, but it also practices them. Their knowledge includes practices I wish every housewife were as up-to-date as the Army messes.

They average over 4,000 calories a day, I guess that's about as well myself!

"Yes, I eat diet," he replied. "Every once in a while I take off thirty pounds or so. There's nothing to it, a man's body is to drop down to 140 lbs. when he goes into the hitch comes when he goes on a maintenance diet—that's when

Madeleine At Locomotive Throttle

Madeleine Carroll tries her hand at the throttle of the Canadian Pacific engine 8684, largest in the British Empire, as she crossed the Rockies from Vancouver to Regina for the world premiere of her latest picture, a vehicle "Northwest Mounted Police." The British star rode in the cab of the engine for 30 miles over rugged mountain rail, and described her ride as one of the most thrilling experiences of her life. Miss Carroll became a Canadian citizen in 1939, and Queen Elizabeth of England, with King George VI, made a similar journey in the cab of the same kind of Canadian Pacific engine during the royal visit in May of last year.

Nazi Bomb Just Missed London's County Hall

This huge crater was torn in the pavement outside London's county hall during the air raid of Sept. 19. The bombs went clear through to the cellar before exploding.

Canadian Corvette Takes To The Water

Canada's major naval program involves the construction of about 65 speedy corvettes and some 30 minesweepers, at a cost of approximately $52,000,000. One of these sleek corvettes is here shown taking to the water at a recent launching.

Billy Bishop Inspects Canadian Airmen In England

England—Air Marshal A. W. (Billy) Bishop, Canadian war hero flying ace of the World War and general commander of the Canadian Air Force, inspects a unit of the Royal Canadian Air Force at their base in Southern England.

Red Rain

This spectacular photo of a mass jump by Soviet parachute troops was taken during the recent celebration of Aviation Day at Tushino, near Moscow. First to introduce this technique in modern warfare, the Soviets are still developing the art of aerial assault as a means of conquering troops. Note that many jumpers are using twin parachutes, possibly to permit carrying heavier armament or additional equipment.

Defence Minister Watches Plowing Match

The centre, which is a branch of the St. Thomas centre, with Air Marshal L. S. Besserer and J. S. Duncan, deputy defence minister, as they watched the plowing.

No Roman Holiday

London—Berlin—Now this time it's an Italian city under the primitive pattern of anti-aircraft searchlights and Germany builds a Counter-attack. The British are sending a team of Geeta searchers for German raiders.

En Route To England—Stopover At Iceland

A sub-lieutenant of the British navy is operating a signalling lamp for communication in this Icelandic harbor, location of which has been deleted by the British censor. The ships were apparently part of a convoy—others of which are not visible—stopping off at Iceland on the way to England. Here they will probably pick up additional protective "ships of the line."

Berlin Feels Weight British Bombs

Taking a page from the Nazi book of night raids over the enemy capital, British R.A.F. strike back with increased intensity. Above, Berlin firemen guard burning book bindery, set afire by British bombers in recent night raid over German capital.

"Tough Baby"

You wouldn't offend this British baby by calling her a "tough baby." In fact, she would be pleased if the title for an article were "Tough Baby" because she is 30 parked for her hardships to go to Britain's African colony in Kenya. The girls were selected from 300 applicants for the job of working in the African war zone. This one is showing how tough she can be with a suburban tire.

Tests Models

Came Over To Give Us A Hand!

The Canadian Grenadier Guards in Montreal now number among their ranks at least 123 United States citizens. During the height of recruiting an average of nine Americans turned up every day at the Khud Club, and stayed overnight. Many of them have seen service in the U.S. army. One had hitchhiked all the way from San Francisco to join the Guards. Another had been in the Canadian army, but had to give up with the Guards and the fifth with the Army in the States. The five are (left to right, back row) Gilm. A. F. Godden, Boston, N.Y., Pte. Wm. H. Fall, New York City; (front row) Gilm. J. W. Nelligan, N.Y., Pte. E. Rodriguez, Philadelphia.

NEW YORK JUNGLE

By Wray Wade Severn

YESTERDAY: Continuing his investigation, Prowman interrogated Mr. and Mrs. Langdon. When the officer asked if he had any information, Mrs. Langdon revealed that Maria had written to her, asking her to marry him. Prowman opened the letter by Maria. Prowman demands the letter.

CHAPTER XI

UNDER: Prowman's continued questioning. Prow admitted that Adam had not been himself during the day. He had been at the Country Club with the family and had joined him in the Jungle. Not long ago he had gone downstream to plead with him his case.

"Miss Nellie Langdon is a neurotic," Prowman said, after Pat left the drawing room. "She looks a lot like her."

"There is a neurotic strain somewhere on the grandmother's side,"

Sidney admitted. "She's father had strong Prowman's traits. Sidney's mother, a geographer, delayed the examinations so that neither Maria nor Craig Gundrum were questioned until long after the other witnesses had been interviewed. Guarded by a slate trooper, Craig and Maria had waited in the library and had been asked to leave. They urged Maria to stilt her testimony toward his theory of the murder, but Sidney could not know. He doubted it.

"I've had no more than a five-minute conversation with Maria since his return," he said gravely. "But I feel that there had been a serious change in him since then."

"What did you do during that five minutes?" Prowman asked.

"My cousin's marriage had come off," he said. "I was very upset. I cursed it." Hugh replied briefly.

"What did you do for support?" Prowman asked.

"I was using wireless for intimate revelations. Since he has married, I don't have time for letters. There has been no time for letters."
